The mission of the Kent Historical Society is to be the primary Kent history resource and reference center, leading the community in the collection, preservation, and interpretation of Kent's heritage through exhibitions, educational programs, and activities.

The Kent Historical Society

Over the years the role of our historical society has expanded to meet the needs of the community. We now bring educational programs to schools, businesses, and civic organizations. The historical society collaborates with the Main Street revitalization program and other historic preservation projects in the community.

We are dedicated to preserving and documenting our history through the collection of artifacts, documents, and oral histories of the people of Kent.
